This Synthesizer is a very advanced one. I found this in the trash and i tried to fix it. It worked pretty well until all the presets were gone. I fixed some of the presets and did some modding like resizing some timbres and also added some new sounds. If you're interested in this synth don't hesitate to ask me about some of the instruments. I can upload some timbres in the future. I'm not very good in creating sounds so it takes some time to create sounds for this synth. And if you're interested in modding in the future, just tell me, i'll upload the preset and i can help you to mod it. I'm also looking for friends that can help me with this synth. If you want me to send you a complete preset you can mod and send me a link or a document file or i'll send it to you

What's New In Rhythms?

Creature when you open the package you see two vhs tapes, one being the start up tune. One tape measures 10 minutes, the other tape about 18 minutes long. The whole thing is quite lush and if played in a long run it can last all night. The first thing you find is the sequencer. There are 6 tracks, 1 for each synth, the topmost track is 8 bars long and the lower tracks depend on the track above them, 6 3 bar tracks. The first has a sound in the left speaker, the second in the right, the third has that sound in the right hand and the left, the last 2 have the same sounds, to see how this works just play the first track. The sequencer itself has 6 blank tracks, the topmost is 2 bars long and the rest depend on the track above. If you start a track you can set the length by using the track length slider, there are not loops or fade ins or outs. You can cycle the sequencer by using the up and down arrows. When you use the track length slider you can select the length of the track in bars. So if you use the 1 bar it's a 1 bar track, it works the same as if you use a 2 bar track, it's still a 2 bar track. You can delete a track by pressing delete on the keyboard. However, all tracks can be played backwards. If you put a track on the first position, it still plays it, but you can't record a track from the second position on.
