Leicester City winger Riyad Mahrez has been ruled out for a total of eight weeks with the thigh injury he picked up in the draw with Middlesbrough. Mahrez came off after 44 minutes at the Riverside Stadium on Sunday following a challenge from Boro defender Charlie Daniels and is now expected to be sidelined for four to five weeks. The Algeria international was injured in what looked like a toe drag from Daniels and then was brought down by another Boro defender following the game-winning goal by Kelleher. Mahrez has played the first 14 league games for the Foxes this season and set up Riyad Meghni for Leicester's first goal on his debut against Manchester United, making a substitute appearance in the dramatic 4-3 Premier League triumph over the Red Devils two weeks ago. Mahrez, who has four goals in 22 appearances for Leicester this term, was in buoyant mood following his return to the Leicester team in the 1-0 win at Southampton on Saturday. He said: "It's a little bit frustrating. It's my first injury of the season and the first one is always the most important. "It's my first injury for the season. We will have to wait for the doctors because I'm happy the ball didn't go off my thigh. I'm happy for the season. It's a shame, it's the worst one. "I am happy. We qualified and that's the main thing. It's a pity because I played well. The results are what they are. I will come back stronger to help the team as much as I can." Mahrez ended his four year spell at Leicester City at the end of last season. The 26 year-old then moved to the Chinese Super League on transfer deadline day in August, signing for Guangzhou Evergrande until 2018. The winger has scored twice in nine appearances in the Chinese Super League to earn a return to the Premier League and a move to appear for the Foxes again. "I'm happy about what happened at the end of last season," he said. "I won the league, the FA Cup and the League Cup. I played 31 matches and scored 11 goals. At the same time, I won the DFL-Supercup and reached the Champions League final.

When he launched his campaign for office, many Americans were unfamiliar with his libertarian, pro-liberty stance. He began his campaign by challenging both the Republican and Democratic parties, asking both sides, "Why don't you just admit that the whole thing is a scam? West also called for a rollback of banking regulation, and he is one of the few politicians calling for an audit of Federal Reserve, saying "How dare congress give every central bank in the world virtually unlimited power to create money."
