The 2018 FIFA World Cup Russia™ will be one of the most popular sports events in recent years and the first one under the new "Challenge Mode" feature in FIFA 22. Over the last 12 months, FIFA has transformed its "Be A Pro" gameplay, allowing players to create their own unique player to play alone or with friends in online and offline multiplayer games. The new features and content coming to FIFA 22 this year are listed below: PLAYER MOBILES: Players now have more mobility on the pitch, making them more agile and faster. New player movement animations create a more physical atmosphere. Players will be able to sprint, slide, turn, dribble, shoot, head and feint. The new Player Mobility Player Animation cinematic does not replace the player animations from FIFA 21, but rather compliments the existing animations to create a more cohesive experience. Every player has their own unique animation when sprinting, turning, sliding, dropping, receiving the ball and attacking. Like all player animations, the animation are created using captured footage with motion-capture suits. The following player animations are included: Sprint: Player sprints in one direction with their back facing the camera and attacks the ball. Player is agile and quick as he or she recovers from the sprint to receive the ball. The animation then transitions into a player dribbling the ball forward to a teammate. Player sprints in one direction with their back facing the camera and attacks the ball. FIFA is a football (soccer) video game series published by Electronic Arts. The first FIFA game was released for the Amiga in September of 1992. FIFA 18 features available in-game licenses for the English Premier League (EPL), La Liga, Bundesliga, Serie A, and more. Political leader Robert Bryce has been painted as a traitor to his party and the people he loves after he announced he was running as an independent candidate in the 2020 federal election. The Liberal party is reporting that Bryce, who served as an adviser to former prime minister Scott Morrison, is becoming a target for a series of vicious personal attacks as he fights to secure a spot on the party's ticket in his New South Wales seat of Cowan. Former prime minister Malcolm Turnbull, who has been ousted as leader of his party, has slammed Bryce for defecting from the Liberals and describing him as a left-wing nemesis who will "sashay" between the Coalition and Labor. Space to play or pause, M to mute, left and right arrows to seek, up and down arrows for volume. Watch Duration: 4 minutes 46 seconds 4 m 46 s Turnbull criticises Bryce "If the opposition leader wants to put his personal enmity against me before the people, he is welcome to do so. That is his job, and a fair criticism of mine," Bryce said. "But I ask people to wait for the facts before passing judgment on me and don't make decisions based on baseless character assassination. "I'm running for the Liberal party, I'm running for the Liberal party. I am standing up to an arrogant and obstructionist Opposition. I'm standing up for working people and for people who need a government." The party is currently trailing in the polls and leader Mr Turnbull called for Mr Morrison to swap seats with Bryce and run in Cowan, instead of Gillon's seat of Griffith, which Bryce is already contesting. In a scathing resignation speech, Mr Turnbull ripped into Bryce and criticised him for taking a "selfish and egotistical decision" to run for the seat of Cowan. "I have enormous respect for Senator Bryce as a man and I think he is a valued member of the team and I have always enjoyed his friendship," Mr Turnbull said. "This is a very sad day for me, for my party, for the Australian people and for the coalition. "In this time of great political uncertainty
