 Friend after this pic i have been in Hinata's fan club since february! If you have liked my content or my music, you can subscribe to my music and/or my website, which is not (yet) a website. so when it's done, you'll be the first to read about all the crazy things i'm gonna do when i'm there. The map to get there is here, and I suggest using either the Internet or a car as the fastest way to get there, as the roads are not the greatest, and in many cases, not at all. I also suggest you take a pen that is reserved for homework, because the entire building looks like an engineering museum. Before you leave, I would suggest having a look around the building, for you might find something you didn't know you were missing. Also, if you find a book you want to read, I suggest you grab them first, because students are surprisingly mean. Also, if you notice, there are several bathrooms, where the students usually go for a good night study. If that's what you're looking for, try the one where there's a lot of water, because they might make you take the test over the porcelain throne. 4 June 2015 Ages Sep Gender F Age 20 Racial Asian I hope you enjoy this... Personality Hinata is the stereotypical girl, perhaps the stereotypical Japanese girl. She is a perfectionist, in a good way. She always wants her things to be perfect, especially when she is studying. She has a very annoying habit of giggling a lot. Hinata is simply a nice person, and her attentive-ness extends to other people. Hinata is the kind of person who isn't afraid to say hello to people, and occasionally strike up a conversation. She's also the kind of person who talks a lot, which typically doesn't bring more than just memories of our childhood. She can talk about things ranging from school to history, science, culture, philosophy, etc. She does find herself on the critical side, especially on certain subjects. Appearance Hinata is a young woman, in her early twenties, with a very fair skin, tan skin, light hair and medium-light (i.e. light enough to look distinguished, but dark enough that you would be able to tell her hair

ZDoom is an end-of-level remake of the old, beloved classic Doom. ZDoom is created by the masters of the id Tech platform and is the spiritual successor to Doom3's Raven Software. It sets out to preserve the feeling and experience that made you fall in love with the original game (yes, that is a thing). FEATURES: - The Original Doom Experience: doom3 was awesome, but it was short lived. Starting right after the release of doom3, id software stopped working on new features, and code started to pile up. They developed some features like Multi-player and some others, but they were never updated. - Multiboot - Extensive mod support for old maps. - Huge Steam Community: all your favorite players are in one place. They're real people, not names that you have to randomly choose. It has tons of content! - Portable & full screen - Just like Doom Classic! The Linux version also comes with great support for new and old laptops. - Full Controller support: Use the keyboard to navigate the menus, and an integrated gamepad for shooting. Also works on regular PCs and laptops. - Level Pack support: Support for multiple levels to suit any kind of playstyle, or to play a particular campaign. No, the levels aren't player edited. They're there for the community, to be enjoyed. - Multiple Characters - No, not the trash talk from the original. Use multiple different bodies, weapons, and skillsets to suit your playstyle. Customize your Doom. ZDoom is a project started by a group of community members to remake the classic DOOM, featuring id software's advanced id Tech5 engines. The reason we developed ZDoom is because of the failure of id to continue development of Doom 3 after the release. ZDoom is the best in all respects. First off the Linux version is not broken and was released after we started our efforts. The source port was donated to us and we provided you with a working Linux build. The mod support was also way ahead of our time. You guys have made the Linux version of Zdoom a platform for huge fan projects to flourish. Its awesome! I think it's not fair to give us such a hard time for a project that is purely a fan project. This is why we are more than willing to give you the same opportunity as previous projects of ours.
