The Santa Claus Essentials Pack is available for players to get 100% bonus EXP and Mastery Points for all battles starting on December 11, 2016 from 12:00 AM to 11:59 PM GMT+9 (GMT +12 during the Summer). There are four Epic mounts available in-game during this time, the Epic Reindeer, the Epic Piggy, the Epic Lucky Santa (available during Winter Veil) and the Epic Polar Bear (available during Holiday Festivities). While players can sell their seasonal mounts for the Christmas Pack (Gift Box) after the event is over, they cannot sell the seasonal mounts on the Trade Board. The Santa Claus Essentials Pack is not included with any other packages. Online Features Santa Poring Name Tag: The special Santa Poring Name Tag will be available for purchase during the Santa Claus Essentials Pack. With it, players will be able to be identified when they log in during the Santa Claus Essentials Pack event. This includes all players and pets on the server at any time. A set of Santa Poring Name Tags and a 10EA Pump It Up Passsword are available in the Gold Shop during the Santa Claus Essentials Pack event. Players who have already purchased a Santa Poring Name Tag from the Guild Office, as well as players who own a Santa Poring Name Tag already on their account will not be able to purchase one from the Gold Shop. The Santa Poring Name Tags will not be eligible for trade, auto-refill, exchange, or gift. The name tags will be available for purchase for one week from December 11, 2016. There is one Santa Poring Name Tag available in the Gold Shop. Players who have already purchased one Santa Poring Name Tag will not be able to purchase a new one. Please note that players will be able to purchase a different set of Santa Poring Name Tags for a different event that is activated during December, by contacting the Sales Department of the Guild. Santa Poring Reindeer Items: The Santa Poring Reindeer mount will also be available for purchase during the Santa Claus Essentials Pack. Players who have already purchased one Santa Poring Reindeer mount from the Guild Office will not be able to purchase a different one. The Santa Poring Reindeer mount will be available for purchase for one week from December 11, 2016. Players can purchase a whole Santa Poring Reindeer mount or a Seasonal Reindeer mount.

The gameplay mechanic revolves around tethering your rotund pet and playing around a map. As your pet has friction, it will accelerate on the surface. When the speed reaches a certain threshold, your pet bounces away. These bouncing blocks become a source of platforming. Depending on your pet's weight, you need to hit your blocks with more or less force. You can also combine this mechanic with the jump system to get higher speeds and hit blocks with more force, which provides greater momentum. When not falling off the blocks, you'll have to use a ball and chain to climb and move in various ways. These are mostly meant to get on and off surfaces, but can also be used to navigate and walk around a map.The control mechanics are responsive and intuitive and in most situations the controls will be very easy to adapt to. The only real issue is that you're not able to turn around with the ball and chain so going too far becomes awkward. There's also some pressure plate puzzles where you need to hit plates with the ball to move on, which is kind of challenging when you don't have the time to think. Throughout the levels, you'll need to avoid punching your partner when they're floating above you. You can help them hit blocks as well as move them around to help solve the puzzles. In some occasions you'll need to catch them in mid-air and move them to a different direction. The controls are simple and responsive and will make it easy to play with your partner. It's great to be able to have a short connection to your partner since you can't see each other but you still have some control over your movement. Despite the game only having 3 modes to play with 2 friends, the game provides a lot of content for players. There are 2 parts in each level with random obstacles, and additional platforms to make the levels more difficult as you progress. In the beginning, you'll have to rotate your partner and use gravity to jump around. Eventually, the rotating will become easier so you'll be able to jump the same direction as your partner and get around the level faster. You'll also be able to switch between the ball and chain, the tether and the partner and you can even play with 2 additional small partners to further complicate the gameplay mechanics. There are also game modes like Classic, Fight, Escape, Race and Split where you have to run, jump, use your partner and the ball and chain and

 Vol. 2 Funklift Soundtrack Vol. 2 is a soundtrack album for a movie named Funklift. Composed by Tim Fackler and Jeffrey Lohn, it was released on 23 March 2004 by the Public Domain Records label. The scores The Scores Ao Dai (□□) "Ao Dai" (□□) – Choi Jong-hwan According to Choi Jong-hwan's own words, when he wrote "Ao Dai" (□□), "I had a dream about a beautiful room that has three walls and one glass wall, and there are birds flying around that room. As I was thinking about that kind of place, the instrument I played on this song was a kick drum. It was a very happy song for the morning. Bop Bop (□□) "Bop Bop" (□□) – Tae-woong Lee The specific title for this track was "□□□ □□□ □□□□: □□□ □□ □□ (□□: □□)", which means "Will the tree fall down? The ancient axioms of wood (warning: and probably folklore)". Characteristic of flamenco was added to the sound of the güiro, which created a sense of romance. Cha Da (□□□) "Cha Da" (□□□) – Lee-hsun Hong The music in this track is a fusion of traditional Korean folk songs and modern Western music. A geshou is also featured here. Koreans usually dislike the smell of the bird, but Lee made a happy song with a geshou... Cha Seut (□□) "Cha Seut" (□□) – Bak Seung-young The original story is about an old woman who continuously asked to buy rose bulbs. Bak Seung-young reflected the sadness of the old woman's loneliness in the sound of her voice. Di Jang (�
