“I’ve never seen this before...” Welcome to the fantastic world of Gordian Rooms, where are you now? A curious heritage: It’s the middle of the 19th century: the Industrial Revolution is in full swing, and steam power is about to make a revolution in the world of weaponry. Pioneer designers have their hands full with designing futuristic armaments. However, there are few places where extraordinary genius can find itself entirely uncrowded and undisturbed. He could have gotten the same work done in dozens of other jobs. He had enough time, more than enough. But I’ve never seen this before... So begins the curious history of our story... Is it a delicious treat to explore the world in a free, classic MMORPG? Of course it is! But we also have a strong focus on gameplay and development! But behind those trenches lurk malevolent demons — hideous creatures created by a mad scientist in the 19th century. In "Demon's of the Deep," four players take on the role of the cruel demons as they attempt to destroy the weak and bring about the complete destruction of the empire. The struggle for power begins...The attack on the imperial capital will begin with the insertion of the Demon Lords in the city. city one after another. Your first task is to find weapons and potions to strengthen your demons. They will receive a set of abilities which, together with their own combat strength, will help them in their ultimate goal of destroying everything and everyone in the capital. Players will start the fight with their own weapons and the demon lords. As soon as the game begins each demon lord will attack the capital and the player will have to choose if he will help them. To be successful, he will have to make the correct decisions in each situation as events unfold. But beware, what looks harmless to the innocent eye may attack you later. The aim of the battle is to eliminate the entire population of the city and to destroy everything and everyone in the city. Every action you take in the city will speed up the onslaught of demons. You are now your own commander in the most ferocious war ever seen. You have to decide if the city will be destroyed or if you will save the civilians and destroy the city only when you are confident that your demons are stronger than the enemy's. Don't be tricked by the city's tunnels! The city can be easily destroyed by removing all blocks of stone in its tunnels but then new demons will appear in its place. Every block of stone in the city tunnels only serves to replace stronger demons with weaker ones. The city will be surrounded by a giant net. Demons will enter the city through the entrances and will be delivered into the net by a giant catapult. Your demons will fight in the net one against one until one of them is destroyed. Demons will be isolated from the street in the net and can only attack the city by using objects or enemies from the city. If a demon is killed outside of the net its block of stone
