Street Champ VR is a bullet-hell VR arcade action game set on a giant freeway in our not-so-distant future. Your goal is to fly through the digital as fast as you can and avoid the oncoming traffic, which are represented in VR by real-time moving cars. Aiming is done by the Arrow keys or Touchpad. An incredibly high number of cars are coming towards you in all directions from all sides of the environment and all you have to do is focus on the lanes. It's VR frogger, but better than any current VR frogger game. Learn more about the characters and story. Note: Not all VR games will work on all VR systems. Please provide feedback and report any issues. The story of Street Champ VR: Several years ago, we made Street Champ VR as a way to get VR developers and people interested in the technology to test how well it worked. Street Champ VR is still a combination of a tech demo and a practice game. One of our hopes was that it would work as a technology that would spark more developers creating VR games. That said, we still continue to release updates to the game every once in a while. We're currently working on the upcoming release of the "Ultra" version of Street Champ VR which will include several new features and optimizations to enhance the already high quality VR experience. The Ultra version of Street Champ VR will be released sometime this year for free for current users. Keep an eye on the development blog for updates on Street Champ VR: This game is not an official, licensed, endorsed or created by the company and/or games depicted herein.

About VR Arcade Games World class news, reviews, and features for the VR Arcade Games genre, including the legendary Virtuality and Virtua Play. Over the last twenty years the VR arcade gaming genre has seen a few games rise to the top, including Space Pirate Trainer, Astro Blaster, and Dream Dome. But two titles stand out from the crowd, and are the only VR arcade games that are now considered classics in the genre. The two titles are Astro Blasters, a sci-fi combat experience that used 3D positional audio and rumble technology to immerse the player in the action, and Space Pirate Trainer, an RPG based on geometric puzzles that challenges players to face out against mutating aliens. (Click above images to enlarge) This section is where we publish stories about those members of the community that helped to contribute to the success of the Commodore 64. They are the unsung heroes, they don't get the publicity or the fanfare but they are the foundations on which a game rests. If you are a company, corporation or individual interested in submitting an entry to this section please email info@8bit.com.au Name: RJASong Album: Even In The Mill Song By: Swann - Untitled track Answer the Following Why did you create the Commodore64 "Soundtracks"? Hey buddy, what can I say, seriously... you made me rich. I had a lightbulb moment in the middle of 2006 and I created my share of tracks. Cheers man. Then I started contacting other likeminded people to see if I could make a deal - on paper. Then I produced various titles to the support of this book and then the whole thing started to rock. In conjunction with my friend Matt Thompson I released a booklet in 2007/8. You've seen it online? If not, check out the link below: Was the C64 publishing your first Commodore 64 game? How did that happen? Yeah, it was my first game. I got my first cartridge for the C64 back in 1987 and the sequel to my game at that time was 'How Can I Stop The Presses'. We had a US and a UK publisher at the time and the British company only came to see the proposed game. They said they couldn't see a US publisher but we had a US publisher hooked up but were going to have to go through an EAN. Out of the 'Mass of the Games' bundled offer did people subscribe to the magazine/newspaper and how did that affect your business? If they didn't subscribe to the paper they'd be missing out on the publication with the game inside. The money was great. I got numerous offers of royalty and by the end had upwards of 20 countries to pay royalties in. It eventually ran to the tune of up to $US21,000 a year. How much did it spend overall on producing the Commodore64 "games" Soundtracks and other materials? The "Games" booklet cost me something in the low $15,000 range. It

I'm developing a game bomber to help me concentrate on learning programming. I usually make easy games with nice graphics, some time ago, I developed a game in which you make a bad driving and in the end you have to dodge the cars. It was a good game to keep focused, and it made me concentrate in programming, so I decided to use some of the ideas I made in that game to create a game Bomber. If you like that game you should try this game too :) Demo: Demo's are very good to show the game to the people that they want to buy it. Even if you have to fill the form to download the demo you can show it to your friends. If you have any problems please don't hesitate to ask me. If you liked this game please let me know.
