The Game Space Struck Run is a minimalistic game where the main purpose is to complete as many levels as possible. The game features unlimited and infinite levels so you can try all of them. The game is created using Unity 3D, as a mobile game it runs natively on iOS and Android. The game is fully functional and playable on desktop browsers, you just need to download it and run it locally. There is a lot more to do in the game space struck run, like being able to jump, collect coins, unlock achievements and customize your main character. For more information about the game, please visit our website at: Website: Facebook: Facebook Group: Linkedin: Twitter: Github: Screenshots from Shifty: Death Girl The skeleton is dead, you can't hurt him when you jump! This is a demo of Death Girl from Shifty Games. The game is fully playable on the web. The idea behind Death Girl is to make a platformer with a runner's feeling, but from the opposite perspective. You are chased by an evil skeleton, he has different powers, like a gravity field that makes you fall slowly and also makes you travel in his gravity field for a limited amount of time. After you make a jump, your gravity field will move only in one way. I believe this idea has a lot of possibilities, as well as the level design and number of puzzles included. The game runs natively on mobile devices, so you can play it on your mobile device and the gameplay has no lag between where your are and your character. Skeleton Run Skeleton Run is a classic platformer, but from the opposite side.

The Lost Game: The Royal Game of Ur v0.2 adds the player's bot and the AI, or rather the "gains" AI (kind of like a super-strong version of the AI) to the game. This version also adds in changes for the tables and the screens. Now that you have the game, how to play The Lost Game: The Royal Game of Ur has been made easier. In this Guide, I'll show you how to play The Lost Game: The Royal Game of Ur. What is The Lost Game? The Lost Game: The Royal Game of Ur is a game of racing, where two players attempt to get all of their pieces (little golden discs) to the far left. Have fun and good luck! The Lost Game: The Royal Game of Ur is the first-ever board game, thought to be played as early as 2600BC. Its rules are deceptively simple but can come together to make a complex experience. While its successor, Backgammon is still played today, The Royal Game has since been lost to time. Let's bring it back.The Royal Game of Ur, Now Restored! The Royal Game of Ur is not very hard to learn. Each player rolls three tetrahedra die where 2/4 points of each dice have silver markings. After rolling three dice, count the number of dice that landed with a silver marking at the top (the game does this for you) - that's the number of tiles you can move a piece. Moving where? Well, The Royal Game of Ur is really a racing game, where two players race to get all their pieces to the end of c9d1549cdd

The scientific expedition to Terumugi Island lasted two months, but it ended with no success. A scientist who led the expedition claimed that he saw a creature with a giant head in the island's lake. However, he was assassinated shortly after. While his colleagues claimed that he had just made up the story about the giant head, the scientific committee decided to send a team to the island to confirm his findings. However, he claimed that the head was spotted before the assassination, and refused to go back to the island. The expedition member who went with him to the island was killed on the road to Terumugi Island, and was replaced by a new member. The new member, a college freshman from Beppu High School named Kurome Fujino, also went to the island to confirm the findings. During their expedition, they found the mummified corpse of a scientist, who had died ten years ago, together with an old wooden box, a ton of rocks and a canteen filled with water. Kurome and his new teammates took these items with them. They also found the blood-stained wooden board on the way to the island, which they started to investigate. Based on what they saw, Kurome decided to call this creature a "Terratokkon." One of the crew members claimed that he had heard stories about the Terratokkon from the past. He said that the Terratokkon was a fossilized monster in the Lake of Shigaraki, and was able to freely transform to any form when the lake was released by a meteor. He added that the Terratokkon that was found in Terumugi Island had nothing to do with the creature that attacked the crew of the Lake of Shigaraki expedition, and that the creature was a hoax created by its creator. Another crew member who had gone on a Geology Survey Team in the past also expressed similar opinions. Kurome believed that he could somehow control the Terratokkon using the wooden box that he had found on the island. He didn't tell his friends about his plans, and decided to carry out the experiment without them. While he was sleeping in the tent on the eastern side of Terumugi Island, he received a message from the Terrathokkon, which said that it was not willing to join him, and that he would be attacked if he tried to enter the camp. He was afraid
