A short list of witnesses to the San Bernardino terrorist attack, including Mariana Marisol, a displaced San Bernardino resident, and Christina Arredondo, a missing San Bernardino teacher who was married to one of the suspects. On Wednesday, prosecutors filed against Syed Farook and Tashfeen Malik in U.S. District Court, Santa Ana, Calif., in connection to the San Bernardino terror attack. Malik and Farook were married in July 2013, and have a two-month-old daughter. Many families of terror victims have long wondered about the whereabouts of the Syrian immigrant couple, ever since Malik and

Farook were patted down as they tried to get their baby to the emergency room. The couple's relatives have asked for help from authorities, but have said they've been met with indifference. Like other victims of terror attacks, Farook and Malik are being represented by victims' family members and their attorneys. While the trial has not actually begun, families of attack victims have prepared a wish-list of witnesses they would like to see called to the stand. [UPDATED: Dec. 13, 2015] Most of the witnesses listed here have been subpoenaed to testify in the upcoming trial. A few have also been released by the prosecution. Mariana Marisol, San Bernardino City schoolteacher Marisol, 31, and her family lost a home, pets and belongings to the December 2014 terror attack. Despite Farook and Malik shooting her father and her boyfriend, she said she could not bear to watch the horror unfold in the gymnasium. She said she decided to wait for the authorities outside to get the new life she desired. She said she is a U.S. citizen, and wants to offer her life experiences to help the jury understand the issue of terrorism. "I would want the opportunity to tell them about my own immigration issues, so they could understand what it is like to be born in one country and to have a visa that gets denied and get thrown into this illegal status because of a terrorist attack," she said. Music: Sun Summoner Keplerth Keplerth (formerly known as "Liar's Plot") is a point-and-click adventure game for the Amiga, developed by Cystic Studios and released in 1991. It was the first game from the company to feature 3D graphics and use both the Amiga's graphics hardware and sound hardware. The plot centers around the Keplerth tablet, a future interface for entering simple information and controlling the computer, which the government tries to ban. The tablet is the product of Keplerth's inventor (the game's protagonist) who also plans to use it to subjugate humanity
