----- As you might already know, the self-proclaimed leader of the free world is retiring from his job and from public life, and he has decided to spend the final days of his life with his beloved family and friends by taking a trip around the world in a private jet. However, during their holiday, the plane crashes and the president is found alone and badly injured in the desert outside the capital, and you will have to rescue him before he dies. So make haste and find the president before he becomes a pillow (and much, much more) and feel the need to flee home.

What is fun about the game? + Fancy 3D graphics + When the plane crashes, you will see small fragments of the plane which you need to collect. + You will find objects to help you + A varied world with many different places + You can upgrade your hero and your ship + You can search the whole world for coins + More than 40 different skins to dress yourself! + An unusual story with a happy ending +... much, much more For any questions, feel free to contact me with the following email address:

Pixelbotz_LP[at]yahoo.com How to play the game (just click and hold on your mouse): ----- To play the game, first you need to click on the blue icon on the top left corner, then you will find your mouse/arrows and the keys to move up and down and left and right. Known Issues: ----- - Some people get a high score when the ship is in the air. I think this is because they don't take the necessary medicine. (To fix the problem, don't forget to take the medicine) - If the plane crashes and the ship sinks you will lose the game. - If you press the keys the ship will jump up and down - the problem is that the ship actually moves so small you cannot see it from the ground and therefore you cannot see if it is jumping. If this is the case, try to make it move a bit more. - If you keep the mouse on the ship while it is sinking it can move around, if this is the case, you have to stop the ship. - I didn't add the glasses, because glasses don't fit nicely with the icon.

Join the Redneck Rampage series main protagonist Leonard in his largest and hardest adventure yet. Brought up as a poor farmer by his adoptive parents, the evil Leonard Lambert has now dedicated his life to destroying aliens of all kinds. He's joined by a redneck girl called Bubba who has the ability to go back in time when she jumps into the unknown. Together, they battle The Clergy, The Army, The Bluebloods, and numerous other alien races, all while wrecking as much as they can along the way. Redneck Rampage 2 takes all the trappings of an action-adventure game and chucks them into the middle of a hellish alien landscape. Features: A whole new crazy world of huge environments and deadly enemies! A longer story arc in which the player can be involved for hours on end, and a new set of vehicles! Tougher enemies and new weapons! (Enemy Flying Saucers) A gameplay system that is more approachable than ever with added options for the players to handle the game more their own way! A new realistic soundtrack composed and performed by Tony Zucco! A brand new GUI and game menu system to make it easier to find everything, and to fit modern game design better! The first Redneck Rampage, Leonard Lambert, and Bubba were mocap actors (with voice by Rob Riggle and Barry Katz) or motion captured models (with voice by Rob Riggle and Barry Katz) for Redneck Rampage: Lost Gold. Initially, the game was going to be made with a multiplayer aspect to it, the multiplayer feature would have been easy to implement with Steamworks integration on the PC, and it would've looked much more appealing. However, Redneck Rampage: Lost Gold ended up without multiplayer, the only motivation to make Redneck Rampage 3 was the scripting which demanded "full-time developers", so the multiplayer aspect was scrapped. Once again, Redneck Rampage 3 was about to be a multiplayer-based game, with a counter part, but Lost Gold came out before Redneck Rampage

3 was made, and it took only half of the money earned from the Lost Gold DLC campaign to finance this sequel, thus the multiplayer aspect was again scrapped. The plot has changed slightly in the sequel from the first game, but this article will mainly talk about the new gameplay. The new plot revolves around an alien invasion, this time with a much larger conflict,

December 8, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) released a new booklet about the Earned Income Credit (EIC). It is called Earned Income Credit and Additional Child Tax Credit – 2012 Update and it contains a number of technical changes that should concern all taxpayers with H-1B status. While the discussion here is limited, I cover what it means for taxpayers with H-1B status (6501, 6601, and 6609/6610-year-old H-1B increases and the H-1B saving grace provision). Details The new Employer Bill of Rights Section 1402 on EIC requires that any change that makes a material change to a credit or a provision related to credit requires a 30-day advance notice and Congress would have a 75-day window in which to disapprove the change. The rule requires a change in the following situations: Tax Credit Key Dates An interminable protest period followed the IRS' moratorium which has determined the amount a taxpayer's credit can increase during the last six months of the tax year. The number has now been raised from $4,050 to $5,291, but taxpayers whose natural tax filing date is June 15th and filing on or after January 10th will not be able to claim this credit until this increase kicks in. Also new this year is the limitation of the Child Tax Credit (CTC) expansion to 25% of a given family's 2014 CTC, or $3,000, whichever is less. The threshold for the credit is at $17,650 for filers with three or more qualifying children. The previous (2015) threshold was $27,650 and was almost twice as high. The new rule previously applies to filing us 2016 and was estimated to yield a net increase of about $400 for a family, but with the change in filing status, the new cap will only apply to taxpayers with a 2016 filing date and later. For H-1B petitioners and foreign national parents with H-1B dependent children, the FY 2017 increase applies to them for up to $3,750 of the credit
