To report a case of macula-off retinal detachment secondary to blunt eye trauma in a 5-year-old child. Observational case report. The patient was seen 6 months after head injury with a visual acuity of 20/200 in the right eye and 20/30 in the left eye. Ocular examination showed a macula-off retinal detachment in both eyes. After vitrectomy and scleral buckling in both eyes, he had an excellent final visual acuity in both eyes. Macula-off retinal detachment is a rare ocular trauma in children. Blunt trauma is the most frequent cause and the most common mechanism is perforating injury. We have not found previous reports of macula-off retinal detachment as a late complication of blunt eye trauma in children.
