What I am looking to do is have the link look like this: Edit A: Try using: @Html.ActionLink("Edit", "Edit", new {ID = Model.ID}, new { @class = "myLink" }) Q: Using dynamic object properties in a Linq expression Could some please let me know if the following pattern is valid? or is it crazy enough to be against the specification? object Expression = "Order.OrderID = @temp1"; object baseObject = new { temp1 = "AAA" }; object propertyType = typeof(Expression); object propertyName = Expression.GetType().GetProperty("temp1").GetValue(Expression, null); object value = Expression.GetType().GetProperty("temp1").GetValue(baseObject, null); Expression expression = Expression.Lambda(propertyName, value, parameterType); A: It is legal C# - and there are tools that compile it into IL to check its veracity. However you should call Expression.Compile() which will tell you whether it is correct. A: It is not only legal, it c6a93da74d
