We try to understand what other peoples' diets are, but it helps to look at the others' habits, and look at each specific food that we try to avoid. 1. Unbelievable dairy products There are products that are believed to be produced in an environmentally friendly manner, and there are others that smell very bad. Dairy milk is one of them. And, it is not very good when you do not eat it for a long time. (Continued after the break.) The dairy milk is produced in a number of ways. The easiest way is to treat an animal for milking. Then there is the more modern method, where the cow's udder is punctured, milk flows out and is treated for longer time. The disadvantage of this method is that the cow is highly agitated and this agitates the milk. Milk is treated with butyric acid and chlorine, to prevent moulds from growing and to kill the bacteria. The chlorine leaves a bad smell and that is why some people do not like the dairy milk. When you look at the ingredients list of a normal dairy milk, you will come across products that are classified as plant-based. c6a93da74d
