The rules are simple: build a robot, battle it out in a tournament, and see how it performs and where it falls. Your robot will compete with up to 12 others and battle in a ring for the ultimate prize. With more than 650 student programs, an unparalleled range of instruction, training and certification, and real-world opportunities for STEM education, the Robot Competition is a real-life teaching experience. The Robot Competition is being organized by the Baton Rouge Area Foundation (BRAAF), the federal nonprofit organization with a mission to find and fund opportunities and resources for children, young adults and adults with disabilities. Since 1964, the BRAAF has served the community by addressing education, community, culture, health, justice, and social and human services needs. Read more about the BRAAF's work. To learn more about BRAAF's educational opportunities, visit: BRAAF.org. The Baton Rouge Area Foundation is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization. All donations are tax-deductible. For more information, contact the BRAAF at 225-319-3117, or visit braaf.org. Thousands of people spent their weekend plotting to thwart a mass demonstration against a power privatisation plan. The Merseyrail services plan was voted through on Friday, by only a very narrow margin - with 51% of people voting in favour. The plan would see services cut, with the number of trains reduced by 22% and a third of stations closed. The plan is for the government to turn the railways over to the private sector. The Department for Transport say this would save £ c6a93da74d
