Sakura And The Secret Of Shrinking Jutsu [BETTER]

sakura's heart thumped as she opened her eyes. she looked up to see jigen grinning as he smiled down at her. "you know, i was really surprised to see you turn into a mouse. i never thought you'd be able to pull it off," he said, patting her on the back. she blinked, a little confused at his comment, but nodded and smiled up at him. she'd never told him how she did it, and she wasn't about to start now. "anyway, i have something for you. i'll tell you what it is later, but right now i think you should try to go back to normal. okay?" sakura awoke to the sight of jigen sitting across from her, his eyes bright. he was holding a pair of leaf headbands, which he placed on the table beside her. she blinked and looked down, inspecting them for a moment. there was a large, deep cut straight through the middle of each of them. they were the ones from the last mission. she remembered what jigen had told her about the mission. it was the mission that had led her into a mission to find jigen. as sakura's thoughts returned to the current situation, jigen stood up. "i know you're in a bad mood, but there's something you should know about. while we were in the land of valleys, the blimp crashed. i'm not really sure how it happened, but it seems like a third party made off with the vessel. unfortunately, that third party is one of konoha's most wanted, victor. he hasn't been seen since, but he's one of the reasons you're here. i'm sure you'll understand why once you hear what he wants. right now, we need to get you back to konoha. i'll explain more about what's going on once we get there. for now, though, i have a jutsu that will allow us to travel without leaving a trace."

Sakura And The Secret Of Shrinking Jutsu

i think they all have a common theme. and that is to keep the shinobi from getting other nin to use the jutsu while they are still alive. they could for sure use the jutsu on another shinobi and get out, but i dont think they can use it on a real person without them knowing first (assuming that they knew what the jutsu was before). so having those three in the same fight may make them think twice about using the jutsu on a real person and not just an illusion. i agree that they are all on the same level. i just think that sakura is a bit more naive than the others. i also think that she is more on the level of shikamaru than the others. the best example of this is how the three got out of the fight with sasuke. they didnt go down to the third floor, they went right up to the roof. the three were able to get out of that fight without much of a problem, and the fact that they did not want to stay there for very long is a good example of this. i agree that sakura is more naive than the others, but i dont think that she is on the same level as shikamaru. but once they finally reached a place known as a space-time-paradise because of its beauty (which was also a dimension where he could hide his weakened state), isshiki's power would begin to rapidly wane, eventually leading to his death. while in his weakened state, he would simply remain conscious, but would be unable to use his jutsu due to the lack of chakra. he would also be unable to move his limbs and would have to rely on others for his mobility. he would no longer be able to manipulate his environment and objects, and would instead be completely defenseless. sasuke was the only person that could remotely help him, as he was the only one who could channel the nine tails of orochimaru. at first, sasuke was able to use his healing jutsu on isshiki, allowing him to gradually regain his strength. but as time passed, and he became even weaker, he could no longer manipulate the shadows, as well as causing a chain reaction, as a result, he began to forget things, like remembering friends and family, which would eventually lead to his death. as he began to slowly die, the flames that surrounded him began to form into the shape of a giant eye. sasuke was forced to confront his personal demons, as the eye began to consume him. he was eventually killed, but before he died, he said that he had finally found peace. he was then reincarnated.
