i just can't get arcgis pro to work on my windows 7 pc. when i open the app, nothing opens. all i get is the black application icon in the tray. i've tried arcgis pro 10.4.1, 10.3.2.2, 10.1.1 and 10.0. i've also tried downloading the 32-bit version of the 10.1 arcgis pro version. i've tried installing the arcgis pro 10.1 on a different pc and that worked fine. i've tried installing on a virtual machine on my home pc and that worked fine. no matter what i do, arcgis pro just won't work on my windows 7 pc. it's the only program that i've ever had this problem with. i've spent hours trying to fix it, and when i get to the point of trying to delete the arcgis pro files, the program always restarts. i've also uninstalled the program completely and have tried to reinstall it, and i have the same problem. if you use arcgis pro, you can use any database. the version that arcgis online provides is a basic one that you can download for free. to use the basic version, you must be signed in to an arcgis online account. an example of a postgresql database is the esri shapefile. this is the primary type of data layer that the user can add to the maps. users can download the data from esri into the arcgis online portal. i know is something you know and i am just making sure. what if you just want to check your code and dont want to install arcview or arcserver. is it possible to check it on my computer and then upload it to > download free arcview 3.3 windows 7 64 bit hm, i do not understand this. if i want to install the 3.3 extension into arcgis pro 1.3.x, i get an error message from the installer:
