Ask HN: can yahoo! feeds read your HN post? - ivankirigin Google Reader has some functionality to tell if YFNG (yahoo news group) is reading your RSS feed, but is there a similar feature to tell if HN is? ===== ivankirigin Saves me from reading a feed reader that I don't care about. ~~~ davidw I'm sure people do want to read your posts, but they do not want to take the time. So, while Google and HN / reddit are going to develop something that would make a lot of sense for them to do, eventually they might develop something that someone else would be happier to run/implement. I'm not the biggest fan of Google Reader, either, but I think it works well enough. The present invention relates to adaptive circuitry and, more particularly, to adaptive circuitry used in an integrated circuit design environment. Many integrated circuit designs include a large number of circuit elements that are commonly controlled by a central logic circuit element, such as a central processor.
