AJAX-Powered HTML5 Rich Internet Application (RIA) Description: AppBuilder is a web-based toolkit for creating, publishing, and maintaining AJAX/HTML5 web applications. AppBuilder empowers all levels of web developers to build rich web applications through drag-and-drop, configuration-driven design patterns. With AppBuilder you can: • Create a web application by building the front-end or back-end with the use of HTML, CSS and JavaScript. • Use a wide range of available widgets and extend the functionality of your app with Javascript API. • Publish your app to the web for the first time or for the web updates. • Quickly add more web content to your app. • Easily design a new page in a WYSIWYG environment. • A PHP-based technology that is developed by the designers of Bitrix24. • Used by more than 40 million users since its launch. • Available in English, German, Russian, Spanish, Italian and other languages. • Built on top of the open-source technology Joomla! BJWeb is a PHP-based web framework for Joomla. The main aim of the framework is to provide some of the most important and common Joomla functionality and components in a separate PHP file that you can call into your own Joomla-based website. We do not intend to make a fully fledged Joomla application, nor do we claim that we support every Joomla component. We focus on some of the most common ones, but as Joomla continues to evolve, new features will be added in the future and there will be changes in some of the way we do things. We've worked with Joomla since before it was launched, and we're also developers ourselves, so we have a good understanding of the framework and can provide the support you need when you need it. Design and develop a complete website in a matter of hours Browse through the templates Preview the template in various browsers Compare the templates See how your website will look on a wide range of devices Save time on development by dragging-and-dropping and customizing elements right on the page.
