It's happened again. A Grinnell woman accused of faking a disease has received a subpoena for her blood, a move that could have dire health consequences for some. This time, the arrest came at the end of a four-hour ordeal at the University of Minnesota Medical Center in Minneapolis. An hour before she was taken to the hospital, the student was at the U's public safety office — arrested in what a Grinnell police officer says was the latest in a string of student "seizure" incidents. In other such incidents, students have been arrested for making hoax calls to the police or emergency medical services with the intention of being admitted to a psychiatric or medical facility for treatment. Grinnell police have had their hands full in the past year, dealing with one student who had 24 police contacts that involved a total of 17 encounters with CPD officers and ambulance emergency workers. Two people are thought to have been killed because of this student, though both victims' names have been kept secret by the Hennepin County Medical Examiner. The city conducted an internal investigation and produced a report that found other problems with the university's handling of the situation. The campus police officer who went to the woman's residence on March 27, said she didn't know if she had telephoned the university's public safety office, and only found out later that the woman had been

The Transporter 2: 7.0/10 IMDB rating. Even for a new release, the onscreen presentation of this sequel is very decent, with a strong cast and a few nice visuals. There's no "perfect" release of the film, but it's a little more consistent in its looks than many. I saw it in a theatre on a beautiful day. It was a great movie and I'd suggest checking it out if you have time. Transporter 2: The Movie 2015 720p WEB-DL x264 AC3-DRR.
