Gnome/SteamTrackerDescription: Steam Tracker is a simple utility which is designed to help you keep track of all of the games you have installed on your computer. It does this by displaying a small icon of the game in the GNOME panel, and you can set a default value for each game. Games which are installed, but not used, are not displayed in the panel, so you can easily hide them to reduce clutter.

HTS TokenDescription: The HTS Token is a smart, discreet hardware keylogger that stores keystrokes, mouse movements, and mouse clicks into its internal key-log file. Storing keystrokes is convenient, but there is a tradeoff: the user must give permission for the software to save this information. If the user does not have access to the key-log file, then the keystrokes are not recorded. It also has an optional built-in screen-recorder, which allows you to save all of the screen contents (including the mouse cursor) into a file, and to encrypt it with your HTS Token. FreeUnlockerDescription: This is a windows-based freeware that helps you find the most popular lockscreen passwords on your computer. 2edc1e01e8
